

If Picture's Worth 1000 Words, Then What's An Entire Multimedia Presentation Worth?

People today get their information in much more dynamic ways than a decade ago. Then the big choice was producing your message in color or black & white. Now your choice is color motion video broadcast around the world on the web or delivered as a multimedia CD-Rom overnight.

Tell Your Story Effectively

Digital video, audio, images, and multimedia presentations deliver a whole new capability to corporate managers. SEDATA and our partners can help you deliver your message using the newest, most effective video, audio, and imaging techniques. When you want to deliver a message that people will remember, teach a new concept, or even rollout a whole new product line, there are great new choices available to deliver that message.

Now Tell Your Story with Action, Sound, & Music

Often it is easier to show someone than to have them read a long text explanation. In fact, your presentations can be instilled with the excitement usually only found in commercial television productions.

More Effective Because It's Personalized

Better than the old "training films" a multimedia presentation, demonstration, or entire course can deliver the right information at the right time. Its delivery can be customized to the audience on the fly. The points addressed, the pictures shown, and even the language spoken can be changed to suit the individual in your target audience.

Get a Response

One of the most exciting aspects of today's multimedia is that you can immediately get a response, give a test, or even take an order. You can decide the interaction you need from the individual right on the spot.

Reach Your Audience the Way They Want to Be Reached

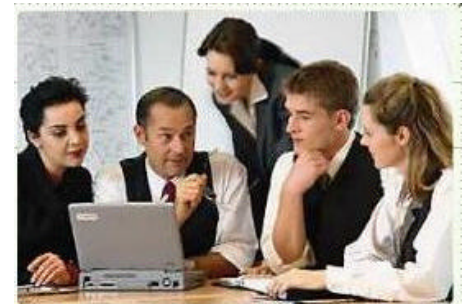

Whether it's CD-ROM, video, tape, audio tape, DVD, email, or live on the web, we will help you form your message and deliver it to your audience.

Our Services

We will assess the story you want to tell and recommend the media and delivery method that's right for you. Then we'll deliver it. We also offer workshops to train your people to produce dynamic multimedia presentations using the latest techniques.

Rapid Execution

When time is of the essence, bring us in. We will show you how to maximize your results in time to meet your tightest deadlines.

Do You Need to

Deliver a Message that

- Has Impact?
- Will Be Remembered?
- Has a Call to Action?
